

Pizza Sales

Goal – Sell as much pizza as possible, but not have extra at the end of the night which has to be given away. In other words... Run out before the end of the evening.

Approximately a week before the event I stopped in at Jet's Pizza on Mack and spoke to the manager about ordering pizza for Pops & Pastries and if they could provide a discounted rate since this was a school function.

We were able to obtain a discount for pizza and since they deliver, we could order in multiple waves... This enables us to not only ensure fresh pizza all night, but we could adjust the order based on what was selling. Jet's also agreed to loaning us insulated bags so we could keep the pizza as warm as possible during the sale.

Jets recommended placing the order the night before. Placed order (Party Trays = 2 XL Pizzas – 30 slices) for 2 BBQ and 2 Cheese and 4 Pepperoni. I picked up 8 party trays around 6:05 and we were ready for the 6:30 ticket sales crowd. Around 7:30 I place the order for additional Cheese pizza for delivery. They had it delivered by 8:15. My recommendation would be to have cash or check ready for delivery.

Discounted rate for cheese, and cheese & pepperoni was $20. BBQ Chicken (specialty pizza – very popular) discounted rate for party tray was $27.98.

Two tables were set up for the sale and gloves, plates and napkins were set up on the table as well as two ticket boxes for collection. I brought to the event several spatulas and two pizza cutters to help with the serving process.

Note – volunteers and students do not get a free slice. Everyone is expected to purchase the pizza. If there is some left-over at the end of the night, that is when someone might be able to get a piece for free. In years past we give this to the cleaning crew and custodial staff as a Thank You.

Be sure to mention that there should be a discount when you call to avoid being overcharged.

Keep all receipts and you will need them to submit for reimbursement.

6:05pm – Picked up a total of 4 party trays – 2 Pepperoni ; 1 Cheese ; 1 BBQ Chicken

Scheduled volunteers based on the performances to ensure they did not miss their student's performances.
